In accordance with HB206 the Police Agencies of Smyrna, Cheswold and Clayton have entered into a joint Police Accountability Committee (PAC). The PAC will advise departments on policies, training, and other things affecting the department and the communities it serves. POST hopes that PACs will bring more openness, information sharing, education, and community engagement. All police departments in Delaware shall set up police accountability committees or boards (PACs). However, HB 206 does not empower PACs to decide on department discipline or establish department policies or procedures.
